Holiday Mix-up Activity

The LEGO Holiday Zone. Where strange things happen. One holiday eve, witnesses said an Alien Avenger and a Warp Wing Fighter flew overhead. Other witnesses heard jingling bells and a jolly voice say, "and to all a good night." Then the UFO's scattered their cargo of LEGO holiday presents throughout the Holiday Zone and the pieces got all mixed up. You can help search teams find the hidden pieces.

Snow Fooling, this Contest is the Coolest!

LOOK OUT DUDES!

Identify who is hidden in the Snowballs and Pick up a Prize

Contest Clue

"Contest Clue" symbol will help you find the snowballs!

High up in the hills, the Maniac started building the world's largest snowman. He lifted one super-sized snow boulder with the #8277 LEGO TECHNIC Giant Robot and things suddenly got out of hand (and claw). He dropped the big ball and it broke into pieces. The smaller snowballs tumbled down the hill and doubled, tripled, and even octupled in size. They rolled over anything in their path and landed all over the magazine.

Look closely to see who got steamrolled by the stupendous snowballs. Some characters may be buried deep in the snow and hard to identify, so there are contest clue symbols to help you. Just tell us the page where you found the LEGO characters. (The characters on this page don't count!)

How to Enter

Just fill in the contest entry form. Cut it out and mail it by Jan. 17, 1998 to:
